

A PERSONAL ARTISTIC PORTRAIT by Stephanie Guse is created according to the customers preferences. Choose a historic portrait painting that role and style you feel comfortable with and be staged and photographed correspondingly in the artist's studio. To this photograph Stephanie Guse applies her especially developed method that bases on her trash archive. It is a collection of packaging material of diverse goods, magazine pages and paperbags. According to the subject of the painting and the personal likes of the customer, she recreates the historic theme and painting technique. The result is an impressive photographic artwork that on first sight gives the viewer the impression of an old masterpiece while on second sight numerous winkingly references about the displayed character are revealed.
